Regional U.S.A. Rail Pass Conditions

1. The REGIONAL U.S.A. RAIL Pass is valid only when signed by the traveler and is not transferrable.

2. The REGIONAL U.S.A. RAIL Pass is not valid for passage. Passengers must present the Pass at an Amtrak authorized ticket office for issuance of tickets. Tickets issued in conjunction with the Pass must be signed for the traveler in the presence of the Conductor. The REGIONAL U.S.A. RAIL Pass and identification for signature verification must be presented to the Conductor and Ticket Agent upon request.

3. Advance reservations for regular coach travel can only be made after purchase of the REGIONAL U.S.A. RAIL Pass. Advance reservations for club cars, sleeping cars, and Metroliners will be subject to further limitations prior to scheduled train departure. For further details, contact your appointed Amtrak Travel Agent.

4. Tickets issued in conjunction with the REGIONAL U.S.A. RAIL Pass are valid for regular coach travel (except Metroliners) on all Amtrak routes. A REGIONAL U.S.A. RAIL Pass holder may also travel in club cars, sleeping cars, and Metroliners upon payment of the appropriate additional charge, subject to the availability of such accommodations and to the limitation referenced in paragraph 3.

5. The REGIONAL U.S.A. RAIL Pass and all tickets issued in conjunction with it expire at midnight on the "END DATE" shown on the Pass. Passengers may not depart from any point; including an intermediate transfers point, after the expiration time of the Pass, unless the passenger's failure to depart from such point by the expiration time was caused by Amtrak, its agents, or contractors.

6. Refunded for an unused REGIONAL U.S.A. RAIL Pass may only be made prior to the "START DATE" shown on the Pass. Any refund is subject to applicable tariffs regulations.

7. Amtrak is not liable for a REGIONAL U.S.A. RAIL Pass which is lost, stolen, or destroyed.

8. Any alteration of the REGIONAL U.S.A. RAIL Pass or tickets issued in conjunction with the Pass will invalidate them.

9. All tickets issued in conjunction with the REGIONAL U.S.A. RAIL Pass are subject to the Conditions of Contract and the rules and regulations of Amtrak which are available for inspection at any Amtrak ticket office.

How To Make Reservations
(Except for First Class Accommodations)
Because many Amtrak trains require advance reservations, we encourage you to plan your journeys in advance since some trains become full during our busiest months. Reservations can and should be made for travel at the time of purchasing your Regional U.S.A. Rail Pass. But reservations can also be made or changed after reaching the United States—subject to availability of space. Amtrak has a 24-hour reservation system. You'll find our number in a "yellow pages" phone directory under "railroads."

Amtrak’s Nationwide Pass
If you’re planning to travel extensively in the United States, you should consider purchasing an Amtrak Nationwide U.S.A. Rail Pass. This pass gives you a choice of 7, 14, 21, or 30 days of unlimited travel between all destinations on Amtrak’s rail system including points served in Canada. Your appointed Amtrak Travel Agent will advise you on the best choice for you.

Regional U.S.A. Rail Pass Availability
You can buy your Amtrak Regional U.S.A. Rail Pass from any appointed Amtrak Travel Agent outside the U.S.A., Canada and Mexico. See the listing of appointed Travel Agents in this brochure to find the one nearest you.

How To Use Your Regional U.S.A. Rail Pass
Just show your pass to any appropriate Amtrak ticket agent who will issue your tickets for you. The Regional U.S.A. Rail Pass alone is not good for travel. Tickets must be obtained before boarding the train and you must also show your Regional Rail Pass when the conductor takes your rail ticket.
