AMTRAK GIVES SKIERS A LIFT THIS SEASON AT PRICES THAT WON'T SNOW YOU

This year take Amtrak to the slopes and save a cool 40% off the regular round-trip coach fare.

That's right, you get a 40% discount that's good on any Amtrak train, as long as your final destination is one of our designated ski stops and you purchase any of the ski packages in this folder. And, to make your vacation planning in the West easier, the ski packages already include this discount. For example, the packages to Colorado contain the $87 round-trip fare between Chicago and Denver.

Don't pass up this great rail discount. Cash in on the savings and enjoy any one of the exciting ski vacations in our Pick Of The Peaks.

Great discounts . . . great ski packages . . . and great going on Amtrak.

Don't get stuck in a drift this season

Since most of our ski packages provide round-trip transfers between the train station and your accommodations, and shuttle bus service to the lifts, why not leave your car home this winter and hop aboard Amtrak . . . and head for the snow covered hills.

Get the snowball rolling . . . pick the peak that's right for you, and cash in on the 40% rail discount.

See Amtrak or your Travel Agent now!

The Ski Trains of Amtrak

There are five Amtrak trains that can take you to ski areas in the West. For Montana and Idaho ski resorts, ride the Empire Builder or the North Coast Hiawatha, traveling between Chicago, Minneapolis and Seattle. The Coast Starlight, traveling between Seattle and Los Angeles, will take you to the skiing in Oregon. And the San Francisco Zephyr, traveling between San Francisco and Chicago, will take you to the ski resorts in Colorado and Utah. If you're traveling to Idaho, Oregon or Salt Lake City in Utah, you'll probably be aboard our Amfleet train, the Pioneer, traveling between Seattle, Boise and Salt Lake City.

All five ski trains have food and beverage service available, with comfortable reclining seats in coach. No matter which peak you pick, you'll find there's no better deal to get you to the snow than Amtrak's 40%-off, discount fare.

Note: Discount applies to coach travel only. It cannot be used to upgrade to private sleeping accommodations or club cars, and does not apply to the all reserved Metroliner Service trains between Washington, DC and New York. The 40%-off discount fares are effective 11/1/78 through 4/30/79.

The discount is not valid for travel that is wholly taken between the holiday periods of December 16-24, 1978 and December 30, 1978 to January 1, 1979. To take advantage of the 40%-off discount during the holiday period, either the origin date of travel or the return date of travel must begin outside the restriction periods. Only one portion of travel may begin during this period.

Take your Pick of our Peaks

Get a Colorado high at Aspen, or take the trails at Big Mountain in Montana. Ski Sun Valley in Idaho or Jackson Hole in Wyoming. Those are only a few of the fourteen ski areas in the West that Amtrak serves.

Amazing, all that great Western skiing that's only an Amtrak ride away.

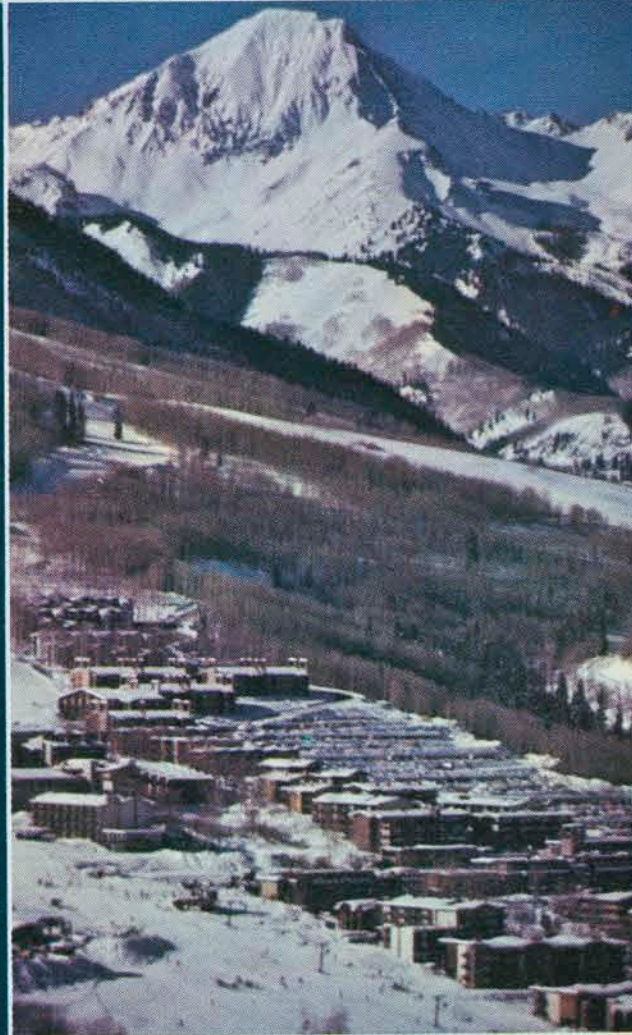

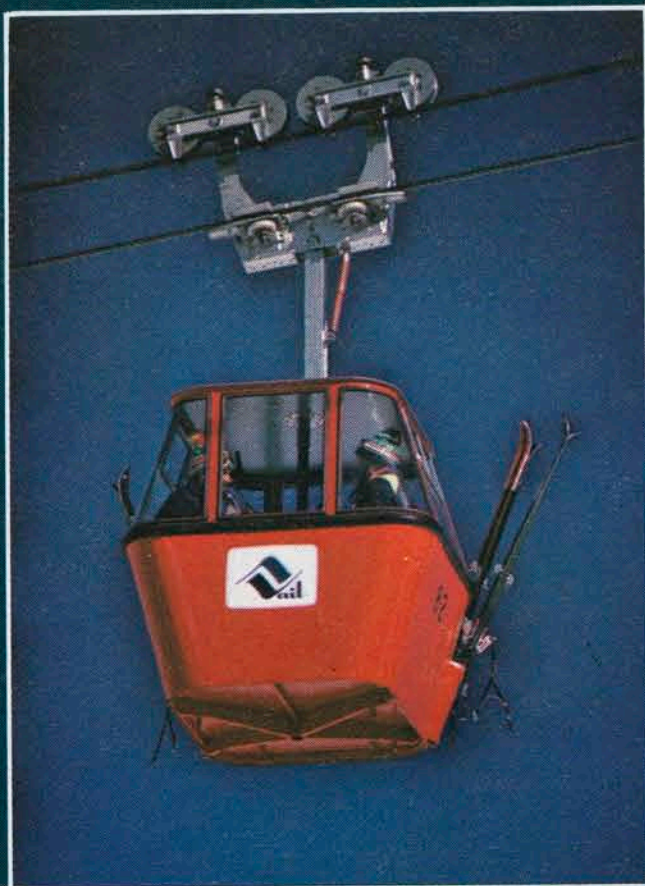

Take a Peek at our Packages

Have we got some packages for you this year! You have sixteen Amtrak Pick Of The Peaks packages to choose from . . . meals, group ski lessons, and rental equipment, or a basic package that provides lodging and lift tickets, you'll be skiing pretty with Amtrak.

Take a Price at your own Peak

When you take an Amtrak ski package you can pick a price that's right for you. Stay in a luxury apartment, or choose a room in a motel or inn.

There's bound to be an Amtrak ski vacation within your budget.

COLORADO

From the jet-set atmosphere of Aspen to sleepy little mining towns, Colorado's ski areas appeal to everyone. Here in the clear crisp air, with huge open slopes ringed by forests of evergreens, you'll feel refreshed and invigorated. Light, dry powder under a warm sun makes for ideal skiing conditions. And there's nothing to equal spring skiing in 60-degree temperatures. There's plenty of activity for all at Colorado's ski resorts, even for the non-skier. And her après-ski nightlife is famous everywhere.

ASPEN, COLORADO

Pick Aspen, and ski at any of four adjacent areas: Aspen Mountain, Aspen Highlands, Buttermilk-Tiehack Mountain and Snowmass. Altogether, over 2,460 acres of trails and runs, offering the greatest variety of skiing anywhere. Thirty lifts, plus 20,000 acres for ski touring alone. Ski racing, Winter Carnival, snowshoe touring, dog sledding, ice skating. And enough nightlife to satisfy the most ardent après-ski enthusiast.

Lifts		Vertical Drop
Mountain	7 double chairs	3,300 ft.
Highlands	8 double chairs	3,800 ft.
Buttermilk	5 double chairs	2,000 ft.
Snowmass	10 double chairs, 1 triple chair	3,505 ft.

IDAHO

The state motto says it all—"It is forever." If nature has changed Idaho at all, it's only become more beautiful. Virgin rain forests of white pine cover the state. Icy, desolate peaks overshadow the countryside, where you can discover backwoods streams and deserted mining towns. There's plenty of room and rugged beauty here. And seasoned skiers admit the slopes are among the best. Everyone enjoys the glittering array of activity in and around the many resorts. Whether you set your sights on Schweitzer Basin, Sun Valley or Bogus Basin, you'll wish it could last forever.

BOGUS BASIN, IDAHO

Only 16 miles from Boise to Bogus and top-notch skiing at one of the country's largest areas. Spread over two huge mountains with runs up to 10,000 feet long. Snow begins in early November and just keeps coming till mid-April. There are 37 major runs of varying degrees to satisfy skiers on every level of ability. Nights are always bright—skiing till 10:00 p.m., excellent dining and dancing at the lodges, and lots of entertainment in Boise.

MONTANA

Skiing the glistening white slopes under Montana's big blue sky is an exhilarating feeling that has to be experienced! Montana. Big as all outdoors. Montana is "soaring peaks and granite ridges in breathtaking vistas that go on forever." And the ski slopes also go on forever . . . they're a skier's dream! And at night, when the sun goes down behind the snow-capped mountains, and the stars fill up the sky, the atmosphere around the lodges grows warm and friendly. Montana . . . it's the place to ski!

BIG MOUNTAIN, MONTANA

Deep-powder runs, plenty of snow (an average depth of 96 inches) and some 20 miles of trails assure super skiing at this Montana resort. Different from most other areas, only the top half of the mountain is skied. Nestled at its base is a picturesque Alpine village. Gently unrolling slopes allow intermediate skiers to ski from every lift on the mountain.

OREGON

Majestically rising out of the Cascades, Mount Bachelor makes skiing a unique experience. The rustic woodlands, a haven for wildlife, are popular with skimobilers as well as cross-country skiers. Even non-skiers come to visit this spectacular area. The season lingers long in Oregon—into late spring and even summer.

MOUNT BACHELOR, OREGON

Built on the side of an inactive volcanic cone that dominates the view for miles is one of Oregon's most impressive resorts. Twenty-five trails, from winding Alpine runs to wide-open slopes and bowls. Fall line skiing is the specialty here. Instruction by the Accelerated Short Ski Method.

UTAH

Image the serenity of skiing through knee-deep powder snow across vast untracked bowls or along miles of uncrowded trails. To those who seek a truly different skiing experience, Utah has the answer. Here in the clear dry air with a bright sun almost always shining, is some of the best powder skiing in the world. After dark, head to Salt Lake City for a change of pace. Enjoy dining in fine restaurants and the city's many cultural activities.

PARK CITY, UTAH

Half an hour's drive away from Salt Lake City, you're in another world. Park City was once a bonanza silver-mining town, and has retained much of its Old West flavor. Here you'll see historic false-front stores, old miners' houses, and renovated hotels and saloons. There are over 45 runs and 65 miles of trails, with names like Lost Prospector, The Shaft, and Pay Day, the longest night-skiing slope in the U.S.

WYOMING

"Wild and woolly as ever". Cowboys had their own ways of expressing it. Today's adventurers have a different way of letting loose on the Wyoming frontier. Massive, snowladen mountain ranges that once formed impossible barriers against settlers now challenge sportsmen to a test of skiing prowess. Here among the gigantic, jagged peaks of the Great Continental Divide are some of the best and most beautiful ski runs in the country. Slashing the state from east to west in a rolling wave of granite, their beauty in winter even more breathtaking as week after week of welcome snow creates a skier's paradise. On the slopes or après-ski, this is one place where the opportunity for excitement is always left wide open.

JACKSON HOLE, WYOMING

Wyoming's Teton Mountains provide the perfect atmosphere for great skiing . . . beautifully powdered mountains and a crisp, dry climate. With a top elevation of 10,450 feet, Jackson Hole has a thrilling four-and-a-half mile run. There are two interconnecting mountains which offer 3,200 acres of skiable terrain for beginners, intermediaries, and "pros." Jackson Hole can boast an average annual snowfall of over 450 inches a year. And the lifts and the lodges are conveniently located in walking distance of many fine restaurants. All in all, Jackson Hole is the place to ski.
